About Howard Glasser, M.A.

Howard Glasser, MA (New York University 1974) is the Executive Director of the Children's Success Foundation in Tucson, Arizona. He is designer of The Nurtured Heart Approach and the author of Transforming the Difficult Child, published in 1999 and currently the top selling book on the subject of ADHD. He has been a featured guest on CNN and a consultant for 48 Hours. He lectures internationally, teaching therapists, educators and parents about The Nurtured Heart Approach, which is now being used in hundreds of thousands of homes and classrooms around the world. Howard is former director and clinical supervisor of Center for the Difficult Child and he has been a consultant for numerous psychiatric, judicial and educational programs.

The Children's Success Foundation is dedicated to bringing The Nurtured Heart Approach to communities around the world. Real prevention involves facilitating experiences of success for all children. When children feel successful on the inside they begin to think and act from a focal point of success.

We are extremely proud to now be introducing The Inner Wealth Project to school communities. Children need to be stronger on the inside than ever before and traditional approaches often fall short of promoting the higher level of inner strength we feel is now essential for children to successfully handle the growing levels of stress and pressure they frequently face.
